Welcome to Park Hill

Park Hill — Europe's largest listed building. An architectural icon sitting on the skyline of Sheffield. A proper place filled with people, businesses, arts and culture. Join this 21st century neighbourhood in brilliant workspaces designed to inspire creativity and make you proud to go to work.

Inspired by Le Corbusier's seminal Unité D'Habitation in Marseilles. Brutalism at its finest.

Urban Splash

Park Hill

Park Hill, a world apart from the crumbling slums. Conceived in the 50s by Sheffield City Council architects, Ivor Smith and Jack Lynn, they had a vision that would transform the way people lived and worked.

Years of under-investment left the infamous Park Hill estate in a state of decline. Yet, in recognition of its architectural and social importance Park Hill was Grade II Listed by English Heritage in 1998, becoming the largest Listed building in Europe.

Urban Splash fell in love with the brutalist giant. We had a vision to regenerate the notoriously neglected estate into a place people would love to live in again.

We're creating a vibrant and sustainable neighbourhood for the 21st Century. A neighbourhood filled with creativity and culture. We're looking firmly to the future whilst respecting the history of this iconic building.

Make it green

Park Hill offers so much green space, you'll not know where to start.

We've worked with landscape architects to ensure the setting remained a substantial part of Park Hill and could be enjoyed by everyone here. So we've added outdoor seating areas, ping pong tables and plenty of wildflowers in the Phase 1 area, it's a great place to spend your lunch hour.

Phase 2 will feature a courtyard garden filled with green space, wildflowers and planting ornaments. The view from your workspace will be very pretty indeed.

A thriving community

Our vision has already come to life at Park Hill; we've created a well-established community and we only want to grow it.

Phase 1 has created 260 homes filled with residents and 10,000 sq ft of workspaces showcasing brilliant businesses such as Human and Grace Owen Nursery.

South Street Kitchen is a wonderful little café serving up excellent coffee and middle eastern food. This super trendy spot has become increasingly popular over the years and gets visitors from all over Sheffield. They also host a variety of events including yoga and dinner parties.

Our plan for phase 2 is the exact same — fill the 195 new homes with residents and the 20,000 sq ft of space with interesting businesses.

Phase 3 of Park Hill has been transformed by Alumno Developments into 356 student bedrooms too, another great addition to the community. Along with further commercial space on the ground floor. One spot already taken by Park Hill provisions, the first convenience store to open here.

Human Studio

“We got the keys to our studio in February 2013 and became the first business to move into Park Hill. Since then we’ve seen the place really thrive and grow, with more companies and hundreds of residents moving in. I’ve always said there’s nowhere else like Park Hill and, with the future phases and development of S1 Artspace, it’s just going to get better and better.”

Nick from Human Studio

South Street Kitchen

“Opening the first café at Park Hill has been both exciting and challenging but we worked hard to let the people from here and from other parts of Sheffield know who and where we are, and it has paid off! We have built up a regular clientele from both universities, the NHS, and several businesses who find it a great meeting space and a convenient location. Why wouldn't they — here we are in a beautiful building with such amazing views across Sheffield. We have loved being part of this growing and diverse community and it's been fantastic getting to know the residents.”

Rachel Cornish and Tim Jenkins from South Street Kitchen

S1 Artspace

“We’ve been based at Park Hill for over four years now and have witnessed the site change from a vacant building site to thriving community — a community we’re proud to be part of and eager to see grow and connect with over the coming years. Our exhibitions and events are attracting a broad range of people from across Sheffield including families, students, academics and the local community. We’re grateful for the opportunity to play a part in the redevelopment of this unique location and are excited about the range of new opportunities Park Hill will provide to the local community in the years ahead.”

Louise Hutchinson, Artistic Director from S1 Artspace

Grace Owen Nursery

“We feel privileged to be part of Park Hill. Having been on site since the early 1960’s, the nursery is delighted to have a brand new home that is part of the first phase of the redevelopment. We have generations of children here that now includes the new residents as well. It is a happy place and a tight community. We are invited and go to the resident events, we know the businesses here and we are also active with the Park Hill Residents’ Association — for example our children are growing plants and vegetables in the community garden which we are going to incorporate into a project with the fabulous café South Street Kitchen.”

Nancy Farrow, Headteacher from Grace Owen Nursery
